

BUILDING DUE-DILIGENCE NOTES

Unit B-18-01, Hijauan Kiara · Prepared for Dr. Ingo Schoningh · Spencer Leong, Kommons Realty (REN 72821)

Ahead of signing, I reviewed the Management Corporation's last three AGM minutes (14th to 16th) so you have a clear picture of the building itself, not only the unit. This is an honest summary. Source: Hijauan Kiara MC AGM minutes; managing agent Henry Butcher Malaysia (Mont Kiara).

MANAGEMENT & FINANCES

Professionally managed by Henry Butcher Malaysia (Mont Kiara). As at the last audited accounts (FY ended June 2024), the operating fund runs a small deficit (around RM38k to RM72k a year), driven by the minimum-wage rise and the TNB tariff increase, and is comfortably covered by an accumulated surplus of about RM500k. The sinking fund stands at roughly RM1.1 to 1.2 million after planned projects. In short: stable and solvent, with modest margins.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT

No special assessment has been levied.

However, the Chairman noted a future increase in the sinking-fund contribution may be needed to fund upcoming major works, so it is fair to expect the sinking-fund charge could rise. Nothing is fixed yet.

BUILDING CONDITION & PIPEWORK (relevant to your inspection)

A building-wide pipe replacement is on the list of upcoming major works.

The minutes show a history of water and pipe issues addressed over the years (pipe-burst repairs, leak rectification at common areas and the car park, drainage works). I share this openly because it is exactly why the inspection clause we included matters, and it is better you have the full picture now.

EV CHARGING

15 owners have installed private EV chargers at their own bays, but further private installations are currently on hold due to the building's electrical capacity. To address this, the MC approved shared EV charging stations (a DC fast charger plus two AC units at the visitor car park, pay-per-use via app). I will confirm with the management office whether these are already operational, and whether any private-charger capacity has since opened up.

My aim is simply that you go in with eyes fully open. Happy to talk any of this through. — Spencer Leong, Kommons Realty Sdn Bhd
